MÃ³dulo paque vs escopeta!. Fotografia: deliny. The Fight: Vitor Belfort vs. Dan Henderson The strange case of Vitor Belfort vs. Dan Henderson proved to be a profitable matchup for the UFC, as it amassed the most pay-per-view buys for a single event this year, as well as setting a record for most total buys in the promotion's history. This Saturday, when the final two Brazilian teammates meet in an all-out battle for gold, the UFC will announce what many consider to be the biggest fight in mixed martial arts history, as the promotion announces that the main event of UFC Fight Night 22 (UFC 87) will be a rematch of its 2009 "Fight of the Year" nominee, Vitor Belfort vs. the embattled Dan Henderson. resounding first-round knockout of the previously undefeated Lyoto Machida in the main event of UFC 83, a fight that had cemented Henderson's place as the pound-for-pound great, winning a rare crossover victory over the top contender, and cementing his place as the most well-rounded and complete fighter in the sport. The rematch with Belfort, on the other hand, was a similarly dominant victory for the grappler, who delivered his trademark shoulder strikes for yet another unanimous decision win, this time over a faded former champion with a bad back. The title bout at UFC 87 will be the culmination of three in-ring meetings between these two teammates, including a pair of first round finishes that, had the first fight ever been for the title, would have likely resulted in another first round finish. Indeed, Belfort vs. Henderson 1 was the Fight of the Night of the show, and Henderson vs. Belfort 2 may end up becoming the first finish of the year. The winner of this upcoming rematch, which will be announced at the July 11th pay-per-view in St. Louis, will walk into a championship bout this time next year. Henderson has long been at the center of the sport's greatest bout, both figuratively and literally. While Belfort's first bout with "Lil' Nog" ended in a "Fight of the Year" candidate and each of his two fights with Hendo have been nothing less than dominant, the rivalry between these two has not been one that the American Top Team
