How do we do the same in VB.NET? In VB6 (2010) we have versions for OpenDNS and Webmin. How do we do the same in VB.NET? I suggest that in VB6 we include versions of OpenDNS and Webmin as separate add-on applications that are available to download and install as separate items, and that VB.NET should include versions of these utilities as separate applications, that can be downloaded and installed from the Software Library. In this way, there will be no need to have to run VB.NET as administrator as in Windows
